

Profilo

As we start to age one of the first places we begin notice these changes is in our skin. At the age of 30 hyaluronic acid stops being produced, and as our collagen and elastin cells begin to break down we notice our skin beginning to sag and loose its fullness.

WHAT IS PROFHILO?

Profilo is the only injectable treatment available today that is specifically designed to target and reverse this breakdown in collagen and elastin. Unlike any other hyaluronic acid treatment on the market, this product not only hydrates the skin, but also remodels the ageing structure and function of the skin and sagging tissues.

Two treatments are required 4 weeks apart and after this you should expect to notice your skin appear firmer, tighter, lifted and with improved elasticity. You should also notice an improvement in the tone and the texture of the skin as it is more hydrated, and you will appear more radiant. It hydrates the skin from the inside out!

Treatment is usually aimed at people between 40-60 years old, however treating the younger face has its place when thinking about preventing the ageing process. The most common areas to be treated is the face, neck and the décolletage, but the hands and the arms can also be treated.

This product isn't a dermal filler, a skin booster or mesotherapy. It is one of a kind and a must in the fight against ageing.
